History Center cemetery records transition underway

Sunrise Engineering tested their new cemetery records database with the history center volunteers on September 8. Great progress was made and overall functionality is looking good. Some tweaks to be made on data fields were found and a few cemeteries, who never had their maps completed by Spatial Generations, still need to be created. Ben Smith from Spatial Generations will be back to show the updates due to feedback and how to edit records in early October.

Monthly Board Game Nights @ Crossroads Sr. Ctr.

The first board game nights have had a modest attendance of 10 each night, but all enjoyed each other's company and the event went smoothly with the help of Roosevelt Arts, Parks, and Recreation Committee member Charles Embleton helping host the event.

Sally Garritson moves to part-time

Sally has decided to relinquish her full-time status at the Duchesne Library and work part-time at 29 hours per week. She feels confident she will be able to continue her duties in the children's section and with story time. Time with her family and young children is the motivation for the change. This change should help with the library's budget needs, particularly since employee benefits will no longer be paid. To help balance the loss, Rachel Hull is being given an additional 5 hours per week, elevating her to the part-time maximum of 29 hours per week.

OverDrive app is sunseting in favor of Libby

OverDrive is removing their app in February 2022. Libby will be the only app available for patrons to access our OverDrive eBooks, audiobooks, etc. This shouldn't be a problem since most patrons already have taken advantage of the Libby app. Library pamphlets have already been changed in preparation for the transition.
